RAILROAD STRIKE WILL BEGIN AS SCHEDULED

MEN WALK OUT AT NOON ON TEXAS ROAD AS ORDERED

RAILROAD LABOR BOARD ISSUES ORDER FORBIDDING STRIKE UNTIL LAW IS COMPLIED WITH

ORDERS BOTH SIDES OF CONTOVERSY TO APPEAR OCTOBER TWENTY-SIXTH FOR A HEARING

(By United Press)
Washington, Oct. 22—The decision of President Harding and his advisors has been to let the strike solution remain in the hands of the railway labor board until the actual walkout occurs. If the strike comes, the federal government will take such steps as may be necessary to move commodities.

100 PER CENT WALKOUT
Houston, Texas, Oct. 22—Railway strike begins on the International & Great Northern railway.

The nationwide railway strike got under way today when 167 trainmen walked out on the international & Great Northern railway and left their jobs at 11:55 o'clock this morning, just five minutes before the time they had been ordered out by union heads.

Thirty-five men walked out at Palestine, Texas.

Sixteen men walked out at the San Antonio local yards.

It was impossible to learn the total out on the road until train crews made their reports. Union officials claimed several hundred were out. The walkouts at the various places named occurred simultaneously.

Union officials claimed it would be a 100 per cent walkout involving 600 men.

Trainmen Scheduled To Walkout at Noon

Palestine, Texas, Oct. 22—Guards were stationed today at the yards of the International & Great Northern railway in anticipation of a walkout of trainmen scheduled for noon today. At the train dispatcher's office it was stated the strike would take place. Places will be filled by other railway employees until the general strike takes out employees on Oct. 30. Service on the road will not be greatly hampered at present as engineers and conductors are still on the job.

Formulate Proposals to Settle Strike.

Chicago, Oct. 22—Definite proposals to settle the railway strike will be formulated by the United States railway labor board to submit to union chiefs and railway executives.

Proposals for calling off the walkout were based on proposals submitted to the union chiefs alone early in the week. Failure of the conference was due to the fact that executives of railways had not agreed to reducing freight rates with the July 1 wage cut and their decision to ask for further wage reductions immediately.

The board believes that if it gets both sides of the controversy in the same room, a settlement may be effected.

Chicago, Oct. 22—The United States railroad labor board Friday, backed by all the authority which the government can place at its disposal, called the railroads of the country and the five big unions to appear here Wednesday and solemnly warned the unions not to strike until the board has heard their grievances and rendered a decision.

The board's action practically means that there will be no strike Oct. 30 unless the unions should choose to openly defy the government for it is hardly probable that a decision would be rendered by the board before that date.

The text of the resolution follows: "Whereas it has come to the knowledge of the United States railroad labor board that a dispute exists between the following carriers and the following organizations of their employees: (All railroads named in the wage reduction of July 1, embracing practically every line in the country, are listed here, and in addition the names of the big four brotherhoods and the switchmen's union.)

Would Prevent Strike
"Whereas, information has come to this board that a conference was held in Chicago on the 14th day of October between certain of the executives of said carriers and certain executives of said organizations of their employees, relative to the matters in dispute, at which conference no agreement was reached; and

"Whereas, immediately following said conference, it was announced through the public press, that the executives of said organizations of railway employees had issued and sent out to the members thereof, orders or written authority to strike, and that a strike vote had been taken on the lines of the carriers mentioned and

"Whereas, the board's information is to the effect that said strike is threatened on two grounds: First, in opposition to the wage reduction in decision No. 147 of this board; and, second, on account of an unsettled dispute both as to wages and working conditions;

Ordered Before Board

"Be it therefore resolved, by the United States Railroad Labor board: "First, insofar as said threatened strike is in opposition to and a violation of decision No. 147 of this board, the above named labor organizations and each of said carriers be and hereby are cited to appear before this board for hearing as to the question whether or not they have violated or are violating decision No. 147, and

"Second—That insofar as said threatened strike is the result of a dispute between said carriers and their said organizations of employees concerning wages and rules and working conditions, this board hereby assumes jurisdiction of said dispute on the statutory ground that it is 'likely substantially to interrupt commerce,' and said carriers and said organizations of employees are hereby cited to appear before this board, at Chicago, for hearing of said dispute.

Will Meet Wednesday
"The hearing on both of the foregoing matters is set for Wednesday, Oct. 26, at 10 a. m.

"Be it further resolved, that the secretary of the board notify each of said carriers and its said organizations of employees, both by wire and by mail, of the date of said hearing, and furnish each of them with a copy of this resolution.

"Be it further resolved, that both parties to said dispute are hereby directed to maintain the status quo on the properties of said carriers until said hearing and decision."

The hearing will be open to the press and public, and with more than 200 railroads and approximately 30 unions involved, either directly or indirectly, probably will last several days.

Edict Ordered by White House

While the transportation act gives the board no power to enforce its decision it is understood that last week's conference between President Harding, members of the board, Attorney General H. M. Daugherty, Secretary of War J. W. Weeks and the interstate commerce commission placed all the departments of the government in accord as to what shall be done if either side moves in open defiance of the labor board.

Should the unions refuse to abide by the board's order, it has been pointed out, the board will, under the law, issue a statement to the public to the effect and the president and his advisors can then proceed to take such action as they consider necessary.

Texas District Attorney Gives Great Powers

Washington, Oct. 22—Henry Dwell, United States district attorney at Houston, Texas, has been given wide powers by the government during the railway strike situation. Details were not made public.

Kansas to Run Trains If Strike Matures

Topeka, Oct. 22—In event a railroad strike becomes effective, the state government in Kansas will operate the lines within the state, if it becomes necessary, under the Kansas industrial court law, Governor H. J. Allen announced Friday. First, however, the railroad managers will be given an opportunity to operate the roads.

U. S. WILL NOT USE WARTIME POWERS TO AVERT STRIKE

CABINET MEMBERS ADVISE PRESIDENT TO ASSUME AUTHORITY UNDER NATIONAL DEFENSE ACT

Washington, Oct. 21—Use by the government of its war powers to avert the threatened nationwide railroad strike, while suggested in some quarters, will not be exercised, it was stated late today in high administration circles.

The impression was given that the administration feels other avenues are open by which a settlement may be reached. No indication was given, however, as to what course would be followed or what information the government may have had from the labor board.

After the regular cabinet meeting it became known that some members of the president's official family had advised him to use the wartime authority to prevent the threatened strike from seriously interfering with the transportation of necessities. The provision authorizing the president to take such steps is a part of the national defense act which continues in force until there has been a formal proclamation of peace.

It was learned also that officials urging that course had gone so far as to draw up lists of men on whom the government could call in emergency to keep enough trains running to supply such articles as food and fuel wherever they are needed.

Troops Would be Used

Should the war powers be invoked, it is expected that the war department would be called on to perform most of the duties thus imposed upon the government. The degree of control which would be exercised over the roads would depend on the demands of the situation and might reach the proportion of direct governmental operation.

Personnel data showing the occupation of every man in the service is a part of the permanent record of the war department and is understood to show that a large number would be available from that source to give experienced attention to task of operation. In addition, the government would expect considerable help from volunteer sources, officials having no doubt that men with railroad experience and now holding, in many cases, important positions would be ready to come to the aid of the government. It is understood that a large number of such volunteer offers already have reached Washington.

Invocation of the wartime authority would be expected to follow only in case the union leaders disregard an official notice from the railroad labor board and bring on a strike of such proportions that the railway companies themselves could not keep the centers of population properly supplied with the necessities of life.

Say Board Order Can be Enforced

Although no official would discuss the situation there were indications here today that such an official notification might be served on the unions soon if they decide to disregard the suggestion made to them informally at the Chicago conference.

Those officials who had advised the president to use his full war powers in an emergency, take the view that although no penalty is imposed for a violation of the railroad labor board's ruling in regard to a strike the board's power to deliver an edict against interruption of commerce is a power of law which the federal government should enforce. They argue that the absence of penalty does not make the law less binding nor the obligations of enforcement less positive.

BILL TO BAR RAILWAY TO COLLECT CLAIMS FOR SLACKER LABOR

Washington, Oct. 22—Railways will be barred from collecting claims against the government for alleged "slacking" of labor under federal control by a bill favorably reported on in senate committee. The bill will be taken up after tax matters are disposed of.

Freight Rates Ordered Reduced on Hay, Grain, and Feed, by the I. C. C.

(By United Press)
Washington, Oct. 22—A general reduction of freight rates on hay, grain and feed in western and inter-mountain territory has been ordered by the interstate commerce commission today. This action, forecast exclusively by the United Press, is one of the first steps by the government designed to avert the threatened railroad strike.

The reductions made are approximately 10 per cent on heavy grains and products and prepared food products. The interstate commerce commission said the present rates were unjust and unreasonable. The items given are but single items in the reductions contemplated. It applies to practically all rates west of Omaha and Chicago, through the Twin Cities and other points which will bring about a general reduction of freight rates in northwestern territory.

The interstate commerce commission in its decision found that agricultural interests and grain growers could not stand the present rates because they were doing business at a loss.

FOUND GUILTY OF HOLDING FORGED LIBERTY BONDS

Minneapolis, Oct. 22—Nels B. Nelson, Bemidji contractor, was found guilty of possessing forged liberty bonds, the jury of the United States district court coming to a decision in ten hours. (By United Press.)
Paris, Oct. 22—The ministry of the interior has prohibited communist demonstrations at the American embassy set for Sunday. Communists had planned to march through eight converging streets to the embassy as a protest against the conviction of Sacco and Vanzetti, convicted in Massachusetts of the murder of a paymaster.

As stated to the United Press, a parade will not be permitted and it was taken that rigorous measures, a resort to troops, would be called to prevent any parade formation or marching.

WILL COORDINATE EFFORTS TO HELP NATION'S JOBLESS

To Colonel Arthur Woods, former Police Commissioner of New York city and at the close of the war assistant to the secretary of war, charged with helping to re-establish service men in civil life, has been assigned the complex administrative task of coordinating the efforts and interchanging the ideas of the Mayor's Emergency Committees recommended throughout the country by the President's Conference on Unemployment.

President Harding described as follows the bureau of which Herbert Hoover, secretary of commerce and chairman of the unemployment conference, named Colonel Woods head:

"In order that there may be unity of action by all the forces which may be brought to bear, whether governmental or private, the unemployment conference is establishing an agency in Washington through which appropriate co-ordination can be promoted, and through which reports on progress and suggestions may be given general circulation and cooperation. I trust this agency will be supported in this endeavor."

Thirty-one Mayor's Committees were formed within four days after the president's appeal.

42,000 JOBLESS IN MINNESOTA

(By United Press.)
St. Paul, Oct. 22—The Minnesota State Industrial Commission reports 42,000 out of work and jobless in Minnesota. The commission has had under investigation the unemployment situation for a month and is now announcing its findings. Winter will find conditions more serious, and critical in Minneapolis. The Mill City has 10,000 out of work, St. Paul has 5,000 minus a job and Duuth has 5,000. Things may be twice as bad in the three cities named this winter.

Nineteen towns of the iron range country have 17,000 out of work. 259 other communities have a total of 15,000 out of work.

CHICAGO MEETS PRINCETON ON TIGER FIELD

By HENRY L. FARRELL, (United Press Staff Correspondent.)
Princeton, N. J., Oct. 22—Cleats of the western conference, long the disputants of eastern football superiority, will tear into the fall-hardened turf of Palmer stadium here this afternoon, when Chicago meets the Princeton Tigers.

It is by far the outstanding game of a big football day and is one of the most important intersectional games of the season as it marks the first open relations between the western conference and the "Big Three."

Chicago finished fifth in the conference race last year, while Princeton had a good claim for the championship of the east. Form shown in the early games of the season when Chicago defeated Northwestern 41 to 0 and Purdue 9 to 0 opened the eyes of the Tigers to the fact that they have a game on their hands.

Princeton has made no phenomenal showing this year, due to the attempts of Coach Bill Roper to make of his eleven something more than a one-man team as it has been regarded for two years.

The Tigers have a powerful team, including two All-American stars—Captain Stanley Keck at tackle and the versatile Don Lourie at quarterback. Odds of 7 to 5 were quoted today around the Nassau Inn, where the Tiger following sings its pre-game chant of victory every Saturday.

The probable line up will be:

Chicago	Princeton
Halladay	LE
Fletcher	LT
Miller	LG
King	C
Redmond	RG
McGuire	RT
Strohmeier	RE
McMasters	QB
Cole	LHB
Moecher	RHB
Hermes	FB
	Cleaves

LOGGERS FORECAST BUSINESS INCREASE

Minneapolis, Oct. 22—Northern loggers estimated that the 1922 lumber business will improve 40 to 50 per cent compared with 1921. O. T. Swan, Oshkosh, Wis., secretary-treasurer of the Northern Hemlock and Hardwood Manufacturers, at the final session of the Northern Logging congress yesterday at the West hotel, said these estimates are accurate because the entire log cut, made in the winter, is based on them. He added, however, that the actual cut this year would be only 45 per cent of that last year because of the overestimate of a year ago, and the resulting large cut. Pulp mills have large stocks of hemlock on hand now, and the lumber companies have stocks of lumber which will be carried over in 1922, he said.

"Employees in the woods this year in the north will be about 50 per cent of last year," Mr. Swan said. "I have gathered reports from firms employing 15,000 men for Secretary of Commerce Hoover. I understand that the combined reports from all parts of the country indicate that 260,000 less men will be at work the next season than would normally be employed in woods and mills."

Business Administration Promised for North Dakota if Non Party is Defeated

Fargo, N. D., Oct. 22—"There is no doubt about what will happen if the voters at the polls express their wishes," said Theodore Nelson, secretary of the Independent Voters Association.

The independent forces are opposing the nonpartisans in a recall election Friday and are optimistic.

"The expenses of the state have increased $5,000,000 and the situation is one which no thinking man in North Dakota can tolerate and we expect that October 28 will witness the exit of Frazer, Lembke and Hazen and their replacement by Nestor, Johnson and Kitchin," said Secretary Nelson.

The independent candidates have promised to dismiss all superfluous state employees and to inaugurate an era of strict economy and a business administration.

COMMUNIST PARADE STOPPED IN PARIS

DEMONSTRATION OF REDS BEFORE AMERICAN EMBASSY SUNDAY FORBIDDEN

(By United Press.)
Paris, Oct. 22—The ministry of the interior has prohibited communist demonstrations at the American embassy set for Sunday. Communists had planned to march through eight converging streets to the embassy as a protest against the conviction of Sacco and Vanzetti, convicted in Massachusetts of the murder of a paymaster.

WILL COORDINATE EFFORTS TO HELP NATION'S JOBLESS

To Colonel Arthur Woods, former Police Commissioner of New York city and at the close of the war assistant to the secretary of war, charged with helping to re-establish service men in civil life, has been assigned the complex administrative task of coordinating the efforts and interchanging the ideas of the Mayor's Emergency Committees recommended throughout the country by the President's Conference on Unemployment.

President Harding described as follows the bureau of which Herbert Hoover, secretary of commerce and chairman of the unemployment conference, named Colonel Woods head:

"In order that there may be unity of action by all the forces which may be brought to bear, whether governmental or private, the unemployment conference is establishing an agency in Washington through which appropriate co-ordination can be promoted, and through which reports on progress and suggestions may be given general circulation and cooperation. I trust this agency will be supported in this endeavor."

Thirty-one Mayors' Committees were formed within four days after the president's appeal.

42,000 JOBLESS IN MINNESOTA

(By United Press.)
St. Paul, Oct. 22—The Minnesota State Industrial Commission reports 42,000 out of work and jobless in Minnesota. The commission has had under investigation the unemployment situation for a month and is now announcing its findings. Winter will find conditions more serious, and critical in Minneapolis. The Mill City has 10,000 out of work, St. Paul has 5,000 minus a job and Duuth has 5,000. Things may be twice as bad in the three cities named this winter.

Nineteen towns of the iron range country have 17,000 out of work. 259 other communities have a total of 15,000 out of work.

On receipt of the report Governor Preus wired President Harding to exert the influence of congress in providing highway roadwork for fall and winter to relieve the situation.

SATURDAY'S FOOTBALL BULLETINS

Minneapolis, Oct. 22—Cloudy and cool weather was ushered in for the Indiana-Minnesota football game. Early morning indications pointed to rain or snow, but at noon the sun came out intermittently. The sun shone warm at noon.

Both teams peddled a lot of "cripple" talk. The only men lacking on the Minnesota team are Arnold Oss and "Trig" Johnson.

Coach Stein of Indiana said Ted Donovan and Cox, his regular ends, were out of the game.

Harvard Stadium, Cambridge, Mass., Oct. 22—Hugo Bezdek's football squad from Penn state leaped into the stadium this afternoon determined to make a meal out of Harvard. Weather is ideal.

CHICAGO MEETS PRINCETON ON TIGER FIELD

By HENRY L. FARRELL, (United Press Staff Correspondent.)
Princeton, N. J., Oct. 22—Cleats of the western conference, long the disputants of eastern football superiority, will tear into the fall-hardened turf of Palmer stadium here this afternoon, when Chicago meets the Princeton Tigers.

It is by far the outstanding game of a big football day and is one of the most important intersectional games of the season as it marks the first open relations between the western conference and the "Big Three."

Chicago finished fifth in the conference race last year, while Princeton had a good claim for the championship of the east. Form shown in the early games of the season when Chicago defeated Northwestern 41 to 0 and Purdue 9 to 0 opened the eyes of the Tigers to the fact that they have a game on their hands.

Princeton has made no phenomenal showing this year, due to the attempts of Coach Bill Roper to make of his eleven something more than a one-man team as it has been regarded for two years.

The Tigers have a powerful team, including two All-American stars—Captain Stanley Keck at tackle and the versatile Don Lourie at quarterback. Odds of 7 to 5 were quoted today around the Nassau Inn, where the Tiger following sings its pre-game chant of victory every Saturday.

The probable line up will be:

Chicago	Princeton
Halladay	LE
Fletcher	LT
Miller	LG
King	C
Redmond	RG
McGuire	RT
Strohmeier	RE
McMasters	QB
Cole	LHB
Moecher	RHB
Hermes	FB

LOGGERS FORECAST BUSINESS INCREASE

Minneapolis, Oct. 22—Northern loggers estimated that the 1922 lumber business will improve 40 to 50 per cent compared with 1921. O. T. Swan, Oshkosh, Wis., secretary-treasurer of the Northern Hemlock and Hardwood Manufacturers, at the final session of the Northern Logging congress yesterday at the West hotel, said these estimates are accurate because the entire log cut, made in the winter, is based on them. He added, however, that the actual cut this year would be only 45 per cent of that last year because of the overestimate of a year ago, and the resulting large cut. Pulp mills have large stocks of hemlock on hand now, and the lumber companies have stocks of lumber which will be carried over in 1922, he said.

"Employees in the woods this year in the north will be about 50 per cent of last year," Mr. Swan said. "I have gathered reports from firms employing 15,000 men for Secretary of Commerce Hoover. I understand that the combined reports from all parts of the country indicate that 260,000 less men will be at work the next season than would normally be employed in woods and mills."

Business Administration Promised for North Dakota if Non Party is Defeated

Fargo, N. D., Oct. 22—"There is no doubt about what will happen if the voters at the polls express their wishes," said Theodore Nelson, secretary of the Independent Voters Association.

The independent forces are opposing the nonpartisans in a recall election Friday and are optimistic.

"The expenses of the state have increased $5,000,000 and the situation is one which no thinking man in North Dakota can tolerate and we expect that October 28 will witness the exit of Frazer, Lembke and Hagen and their replacement by Nesto, Johnson and Kitchin," said Secretary Nelson.

The independent candidates have promised to dismiss all superfluous state employees and to inaugurate an era of strict economy and a business administration.

Mail

The postoffice department, as stated by Will H. Hays, Postmaster General, is anxious for all newspaper clippings regarding the mail service which carry constructive criticism. Postmaster H. P. Dunn of Brainerd, in company with all the other postmasters of the United States, has been notified to clip from all newspapers and periodicals published in his jurisdiction and printed in the English language all comment, favorable or unfavorable, and all suggestions or other matter referring directly or indirectly to the postoffice department. This covers both news and editorial articles. The department is particularly anxious to have all constructive criticism called to its attention.

On each clipping sent is to be noted the name of the town and state, name of the paper and date of publication.

Mail Box Census

Letter carriers took a census of Brainerd and found 319 homes were without facilities of any kind for receiving mail. This should be remedied.

The following letter has been sent to each householder:

It has been brought to my attention that you have failed to provide a receptacle for the receipt of your mail from the carrier. This tends seriously to interfere with safe and efficient mail service. You will readily appreciate the great saving in time that is effected when the carrier can proceed from house to house without the necessity of stopping longer than is required to drop the mail in a box, as well as the loss of time and irritating delays when he must knock or ring every bell and await a response. On the other hand, the practice of placing mail in vestibules, under doors, on window sills, etc., where it is exposed to theft and the elements, is hazardous and frequently results in the loss of highly valuable or important mail.

I therefore earnestly solicit your cooperation in building up a highly efficient and dependable service by providing a suitable receptacle of some character. Either a box or a slot in the door is acceptable, although the former is preferable, and either would involve only the expenditure of a small sum and a few minutes' labor. This will not only insure the prompt and safe delivery of your mail, but will result in improving the mail service to the entire community. Won't you thus do your part to assist your Government in the successful administration of one of the biggest and most vital business institutions in the world? Prompt attention to the matter will be greatly appreciated.

Respectfully,

H. P. DUNN,
Postmaster.

Mail Box Census

Letter carriers took a census of Brainerd and found 319 homes were without facilities of any kind for receiving mail. This should be remedied.

The following letter has been sent to each householder:

It has been brought to my attention that you have failed to provide a receptacle for the receipt of your mail from the carrier. This tends seriously to interfere with safe and efficient mail service. You will readily appreciate the great saving in time that is affected when the carrier can proceed from house to house without the necessity of stopping longer than is required to drop the mail in a box, as well as the loss of time and irritating delays when he must knock or ring every bell and await a response. On the other hand, the practice of placing mail in vestibules, under doors, on window sills, etc., where it is exposed to theft and the elements, is hazardous and frequently results in the loss of highly valuable or important mail.

I therefore earnestly solicit your cooperation in building up a highly efficient and dependable service by providing a suitable receptacle of some character. Either a box or a slot in the door is acceptable, although the former is preferable, and either would involve only the expenditure of a small sum and a few minutes' labor. This will not only insure the prompt and safe delivery of your mail, but will result in improving the mail service to the entire community. Won't you thus do your part to assist your Government in the successful administration of one of the biggest and most vital business institutions in the world? Prompt attention to the matter will be greatly appreciated.

Respectfully,

H. P. DUNN,
Postmaster.

Growing up with Brainerd

Fifty-one years ago Brainerd was organized and her population was 200. Now it is 10,000 or fifty times as large.

Forty years ago, the Bank of Brainerd was reorganized to form the First National Bank. Its deposits were then $56,606. Now they are over two million—forty times as large.

For forty years, this bank has been serving the people without interruption, sharing in their prosperity, and bearing its share of the burdens in hard times. It has grown up with Brainerd and supported its industries and improvements. Indeed it has become a part of Brainerd.

MISS EUBANK TO SING HERE SUNDAY

Under Auspices of Brainerd Musical Club at 3 P. M. in the New Park Theatre

IS A NOTED MEZZO-SOPRANO

Program Includes Selections From Gounod, Puccini, Faure and Other Noted Composers

Miss Lillian Eubank, mezzo-soprano, who has sung with both the Chicago and the Metropolitan opera companies, will appear at the New Park theatre Sunday afternoon at 3 o'clock under the auspices of the Brainerd Musical Club.

The program will consist of selections from Gounod, Puccini, Faure and other noted composers.

Miss Eubank while a little new, in a way, to the concert public is by no means a stranger to the music world. In the Metropolitan and Chicago companies she has been looked upon as one of the leading singers, many important roles being intrusted to her. On more than one occasion has the impresario rushed messages to this brilliant young singer requesting that she "get up" on big parts within short notice. They knew she was a woman of extraordinary intellect and she did not know the meaning of fatigue or failure. As one well-known conductor said of her: "She never missed fire."

As a singer of songs Miss Eubank has won exceptional praise. First of all she has wonderful confidence in her audience. She feels she is going to please. The voice is surely a glorious organ and she knows how to use it to get the best effect. Then again she knows how to choose a program, an art within itself. There are few as keen students as Miss Eubank. Had she chosen any other profession the chances are, she would have made a success. She is a woman of exceptional talents, so her coming concerts can be looked forward to with the keenest interest.

NEW FRENCH MODELS

Right: Aside from the startling lines, features are the rosette which fastens the gown over the left hip, the long skirt banded at the hem with dark fur, and the quaint pattern of the gorgeously heavy material. Cerise velvet is here used, heavily embroidered with pearls and makes an evening gown that charms by its chasteness of line.

THAT FEDERAL HUNTING LICENSE

By R. F. HOLLAND,
Editor American Game Bulletin
From the reports received by the American Game Protective Association, the sportsmen of the United States are as one man in their support of the measure requiring a Federal hunting license for all gunners who hunt migratory game birds. We are yet to hear of a single man who is not more than willing to contribute fifty cents or one dollar to provide funds for better enforcement of the Federal laws protecting migratory game birds and for the purchasing of suitable marsh and swamp lands to furnish nesting grounds for the birds in the North, feeding and resting grounds scattered over the country for the use of the birds during migrations, wintering grounds in the South where they may be absolutely protected from molestation, and public shooting grounds where the sportsman may secure his share of the annual increase in this game.

Free shooting marshes must be provided, but we will never get them in any other way. The absolute control of such territory by the Federal Government or the states, the same to be set aside as game bird refuges and public shooting grounds for all time to come, is the only thing that will prevent the draining of such territory so valuable to the game and the sportsman.

It is strange, but true, that it can be shown that although a certain marsh is worth hundreds of thousands of dollars to the people as a whole in the cash value of the fish, game and fur annually produced thereon, a bill can easily be passed in most state legislatures, providing for the draining of his property to furnish Jim Brown, an individual, forty acres more corn land and several hundred acres of pasture on dry years only.

We believe the recreational value of such marsh land is too great to be figured in dollars and cents, as upon it depends to a great degree the health, welfare and peace of mind of many of our citizens. We believe a federal hunting license solves the problem of producing the necessary funds for the acquisition of such properties. All sportsmen should get solidly behind this movement and keep working until it is enacted into law.

LEST WE FORGET!

It is well to review, occasionally, the terms of the treaty of Paris and the covenant of the league of nations, that the American people may not forget what they escaped when the treaty and league were rejected by the United States Senate and the American people.

The idea of "mandates" was invented by General Smuts as a means of stripping Germany of her colonial possessions, and annexing them to the victorious powers, without giving the defeated nation an opportunity to set up the loss of these possessions as part payment of indemnity.

Under this system many thousands of square miles of territory were taken from Germany and turned over to the allies. The purpose was to transfer the ownership of this territory to the victorious powers without appearing to do so; by this time everyone realizes that the word "mandate" is a mere pretense, and that the territory thus transferred belongs to the allies to which it was ceded.

All the valuable possessions of Germany and Turkey went to France and England. The United States was offered a mandate over Armenia and the municipal district of Constantinople. These territories were so restricted under the treaty that acceptance of control over them would have imposed heavy obligations without this government receiving the least benefit; yet President Wilson urged the Senate to undertake the responsibilities imposed under this mandate.

To preserve order in the territory thus offered would have required the maintenance of an army of occupation numbering fifty thousand men, at a cost of a quarter of a billion dollars a year. Moreover, the permanent presence of such an American army in the most dangerous trouble spots in Europe and the Near East would have brought this country within the constant shadow of war.

Fortunate was the United States in the fact that, this proposal of President Wilson was rejected, and that the election result of 1920 gave assurance that never again will the American people be asked to undertake such a departure from the traditions of this republic.—National Republican.

MINNESOTA'S TOURIST SEASON

Reports received by I. A. Coppe, secretary of the Ten Thousand Lakes Association, in answer to a questionnaire he sent out, show that the tourist season in Minnesota this year has been the greatest in its history. Mr. Coppe thinks the reports received will justify an estimate of 300,000 visitors to Minnesota resorts this year, a gain of 50,000 over last year.

The questionnaire was sent to 250 Minnesota resorts, and nearly all of those from whom replies were received reported that they had turned patrons away, and about the same number stated they planned on building extensions.

Carlos Avery, State Game and Fish Commissioner, stated that more than 24,000 non-resident fishing licenses were issued up to Sept. 21. St. Paul jobbers did the biggest business they have ever known in camping and outfitting goods.

More than 6,000 persons, it is said, reported at the offices of the Lakes Association in St. Paul.

INCREASED INDUSTRIAL OPTIMISM

Features of a recent report of the United States Employment Service are an improvement in the unemployment situation, a prediction that "the industrial pendulum is definitely on the upward trend," and reports of "marked increased industrial optimism in every section of the country."

Liquidation in the wholesale and retail business, due principally to the change of season, is given as one of the causes of the more hopeful conditions. The report is based on statistics collected from the payrolls of 1,428 firms in sixty-five principal industrial centers, each of which usually employs more than 500 workers.

PUBLISHERS ARE MODEST

The Duluth Herald, commenting upon a suggestion to "inaugurate a campaign in the interest of that important but frequently unappreciated factor in modern life, the country newspaper, by naming the week of Nov. 7-12 a subscribe-for-your-home-paper week," expresses much plain truth in the following remarks:

"Publishers of many weekly and small daily newspapers are modest men, but the truth is that as a rule no man or group of men wield so powerful an influence in shaping the sentiment of their communities as they can. There is something wrong with a man who doesn't support his home newspaper and thus encourage it to be as good as he thinks it should be."

EX-PRESIDENTS INVITED

Woodrow Wilson, former president, it is said will be formally invited to attend the ceremonies incident to the burial of an unknown American soldier at the Arlington National Cemetery on Armistice Day. It is believed that ex-President Wilson will attend the ceremonies, thereby bringing together the President and the only two living ex-Presidents on the same platform, Chief Justice Taft, it is understood, will be present.

At Hibbing orders have been issued prohibiting young girls from attending public dances, and a check will be made of all school girls who attend Saturday night public dances in the future. The cooperation of parents is asked in keeping their sons and daughters from "surroundings which are not the best."

The annual sanitary conference for health officers of cities, villages, townships and counties throughout Minnesota will be held at the State University Nov. 3, 4 and 5. The conference is held for the purpose of discussing general sanitary problems and presenting the special sanitary needs of their individual districts.

Many of the foremost educators of the country are expected in Minneapolis Nov. 2 to 5, to attend the 58th annual convention of the Minnesota Educational Association.

The ever observant Baudette Region notes that Minnesota agitators are flocking to North Dakota to help Townley lose the recall election.

One reason for the popularity of golf, explains the Sioux City Journal, is that it is something people are not obliged to do.

RAMSEY OFFICIALS FIND CHILDREN AT WALKER BRIGHT-EYED, WHOLESOME

TUBERCULOSIS PATIENTS CONVALESCING RAPIDLY AT STATE INSTITUTION

BOYISH FRANKS MAKE STRICT DISCIPLINE NECESSARY

On a grassy knoll, beneath the sheltering green arms of a group of Norway pines and autumn-foliated birches, there stood a red lawn swing. Crowded on its arms and seat were seven boys—bright-eyed, wholesome youngsters between 9 and 15 years old—all intent on the words of 7-year-old Jackie, who sat in their midst, reading aloud a tale of thrilling adventure.

To all appearances they were normal, healthy lads. Yet this was the picture that greeted a dozen Ramsey county officials when they visited the children's cottage of the state tuberculosis sanatorium at Walker recently. This group of boys and three tots in overalls were patients making a fight for their lives against the dreaded white plague.

27 Children in Cottage

The officials found twenty-seven boys and girls in the children's cottage, as fine and handsome a lot as they ever had seen. There was a little 6-year-old girl who came to the institution a year ago with her left foot partly gone from the ravages of tuberculosis of the bone. On the day the Ramsey delegation paid their visit the child walked without a limp, and nodded her curly head happily when told that she would soon be able to go home. Three brothers of this little girl also are in this cottage suffering from pulmonary tuberculosis.

The smile of one 9-year-old boy won the admiration of the visitors. As he sat up on his cot to meet his new friends his round little face fairly radiated happiness. On August 2 this lad, who had been in the hospital for nearly a year with pulmonary tuberculosis, was stricken with tubercular peritonitis. For several days his life was despaired of, but he pulled through, and when the visit was made, he was able to walk out of doors.

Sleep in Open Air

There is a general room used by both boys and girls in the children's cottage and open air wings in which they sleep. These wings are like big sleeping porches. In severe weather as many as seventeen folds of covering are used on each cot.

When boys, with their natural inclinations for deviltry, are gathered together in groups such as at Walker it is a problem to keep them in hand and those in charge often find it necessary to use strict measures to maintain discipline, gaining sometimes a reputation for severity. Mrs. Maud Cooley, in charge of this department, has found a way to manage the youngsters. When she took charge she taught the boys the rules.

The children attend school for an hour a day. They play the rest of the morning. After dinner they go to bed for two hours and then play again until supper time. A recreation hall with a gymnasium for exercise in winter is provided by the state but it was necessary for the employees of the institution to spend their own money to buy swings and playthings.

Across from the children's cottage is a similar one occupied by girls from 16 to 25 years old. The visitors were struck with the clear complexion of most of these patients.

Overlooks Leech Lake

There are half a dozen fresh air cottages in rows along each side of an open space which runs down from the main building to the edge of the bluff overlooking Leech lake.

The principal treatment for tuberculosis is fresh air, proper food, and rest. While the patients are not allowed to exercise vigorously they are permitted to take walks and play games. Among the indoor amusements used to while away the long hours are pillow-top making, basket weaving and knitting.

One of the most important things in curing disease, according to Dr. P. M. Hall, superintendent, is the right mental attitude. Nearly all of the patients, no matter how ill they are, have a hopeful attitude, he said.

Wm. Fairbanks Injured in Thrilling Western at Lyceum

As a result of throwing himself from his horse over a cliff to escape the "heavy" and his gang in "Montana Bill," William Fairbanks, carried his arm in a sling for over two weeks, nursing a badly crippled shoulder. His arms were tightly bound behind his back so that he had not means of breaking his fall and he lit squarely on his shoulder and rolled some seventy-five feet to the bottom. A real thrill.

Two fast, har-ditting, red-blooded fights, a thrilling runaway and rescue, heart-interest and romance brings "Montana Bill" away out in front of the modern type of Western dramas.

Eugene Walter's Play "Just a Wife" at Lyceum Sunday

The big stage success, "Just a Wife" that added considerable laurels to Charlotte Walker, the well known actress, when she appeared in it on the speaking stage, will be the photoplay attraction at the Lyceum for Sunday matinee and night.

It was written by Eugene Walter whose numerous virile plays of American domestic and business life have attracted attention.

The story concerns Richard Emerson, a business man who determines to succeed at no matter what cost. He marries a fiery Southern girl who does not quite meet his requirements, and as the years pass, leans more and more on Eleanor Lathrop, his secretary. To neither woman does he give love, although both love him in their own way.

WHY NOT?

Many drivers about the city are lax in giving proper signals to the traffic behind them. Some think that any sort of a signal at all indicates to the man behind that something is going to happen.

It takes very little more effort to hold the signalling arm up bent at the elbow, to indicate a right turn, and the arm extended straight, for signalling a left turn.

Some do not even move the arm up and down when they intend to stop, and very often collisions and harsh words result.

Motorists should also remember that the traffic regulations generally require them to give proper signals and those who fail to do so are liable to be arrested.

RIDES 300 MILES IN ENDURANCE TEST

Captain W. R. Allen, riding Rustem Bay, was the first entry to arrive in Washington at the finish of the mounted service endurance test. The horses started from Camp Vail, New Jersey on Oct. 10 and were expected to make 60 miles a day rain or shine.

WHY NOT?

Many drivers about the city are lax in giving proper signals to the traffic behind them. Some think that any sort of a signal at all indicates to the man behind that something is going to happen.

It takes very little more effort to hold the signalling arm up bent at the elbow, to indicate a right turn, and the arm extended straight, for signalling a left turn.

Some do not even move the arm up and down when they intend to stop, and very often collisions and harsh words result.

Motorists should also remember that the traffic regulations generally require them to give proper signals and those who fail to do so are liable to be arrested.

HONOR GUEST AT LARGE BANQUET

Rev. Eloy G. Carlson, Soon to Leave for Minneapolis Pastorate, Show-

MANY ACTIVITIES EXTOLLED

Henry I. Cohen Toastmaster at the Banquet Attended by Group of Fifty Friends

A group of fifty friends on Friday evening tendered Rev. Eloy G. Carlson, pastor of Clara Lutheran church, a testimonial banquet at the Ransford hotel on the eve of his departure to Minneapolis, where he has accepted the pastorate of a large church.

REV. ELOY G. CARLSON
Honor Guest at Banquet Friday Evening

Henry I. Cohen presided as toastmaster. After the banquet was discussed, a satisfying menu having been provided, Mr. Cohen called on the assembly to salute the guest of the evening and all diners rose and saluted Rev. Carlson.

Henry I. Cohen

Toastmaster Mr. Cohen praised Rev. Carlson for the work he had done in this community and said his rare qualities had been exemplified in many ways for the advancement and betterment of religious and civic life. He explained that the various men called upon to speak would each take some feature in the work of Rev. Carlson and describe it.

Dr. J. A. Thabes

Dr. J. A. Thabes bore a greeting from the Brainerd Chapter of the American Red Cross. Rev. Carlson had done much good work quietly and unostentatiously. He was a director and had served on many committees, was chairman of the home service department and was a tower of strength when the influenza epidemic swept Brainerd and vicinity. He helped doctors and nurses and the dread flu had no terror for him.

Red Cross Appreciation

Dr. Thabes then read the testimonial from the local Red Cross branch, as follows:

"It is with much regret that the Red Cross learns of the departure of Rev. and Mrs. Eloy G. Carlson from our city and it is with an equal amount of pleasure that we take this opportunity of expressing in a small way our deep appreciation of the splendid service Rev. Carlson has rendered to this community, the county and our boys through his associations with the Brainerd Chapter of American Red Cross.

"Rev. Carlson has been a directory in the Red Cross and served on many important committees since its organization in June 1917, but it has been as chairman of the home service department and as a member of the emergency hospital committee during the 'flu' epidemic that he rendered his big unselfish service to Brainerd and Crow Wing county.

"The scope of the home service department was so great and the work was always done in such a quiet, individual, unpretentious way that few outside of the directors knew what was being accomplished. But if one cared to take the time to look over the records of the chapter secretary he could scarcely find a page on which some reference to the work of the home service department was not mentioned.

"The work during the war was to a great extent among the families of the soldiers and the sailors, assisting in every way possible to solve the problems left behind through the absence of the father or older brothers. After the close of the war the work had many of the old problems with the added new ones of assisting the returned soldiers and sailors in regard to insurance, allotments, compensation, lost papers, etc.

"For at least a year during the war and many months after the close of the war, Rev. Carlson had regular office hours from 1 to 3 p. m., six days in the week at the Chamber of Commerce with no compensation whatever. (A few reimbursements for actual expense such as gas, stationery, etc. were made from time to time). At any time, day or night, he was never too busy to take a returned soldier to a physician, see that he made the right train connections, get him a good bed and meal and start the necessary proceedings for soldiers' compensation. His work was not all carried on in his office at Brainerd, for many homes in the most remote parts of the county have reason to remember the assistance given by his department and the inspiration they received from his personal visit.

"Whether in his department or serving at the head of other committees the Red Cross directors unanimously felt that if Rev. Carlson had charge of any particular affair it would be accomplished and that the service would always be rendered in a spirit of Christian helpfulness.

"The Red Cross is losing a valued director. We wish to extend our thanks for his splendid cooperation in all phases of the Red Cross work and wish him and his estimable wife every success possible in their new home. Mrs. Carlson was a member of the county knitting department and rendered excellent service.

"Rev. and Mrs. Carlson will leave many pleasant memories with those fortunate enough to have been associated with them in the war work.

Directors of the Brainerd Chapter American Red Cross
MRS. J. A. THABES,
Chairman

In closing, Dr. Thabes said, Rev. Carlson had shown himself a true soldier of Christ.

R. R. Wise, former president of the board of education, where Rev. Carlson had served 8 years, said no man had shown himself more zealous in the performance of his duties. Brainerd lost a good citizen.

Rev. Fred Errington

Rev. Fred Errington spoke as a service man who had filled the humble position of chaplain. He knew too of the work done on the home sector. Furloughs were granted on recommendation of the Red Cross and thus the soldiers were constantly in touch in one way or another with this great organization. Rev. Carlson was of inestimable benefit to service men whether sick or wounded, at the front or at home, to their families, dependents, etc., and in behalf of the American Legion, so designated by Commander F. R. N. Anderson of the local post, he conveyed to Rev. Carlson the thanks and appreciation of service men.

S. F. Alderman

Former Senator S. F. Alderman sang "Rolling Down to Rio", and the applause was so continued that he gave an encore, "The Little Irish Girl". His piano accompaniments were played by his daughter, Mrs. Walter F. Wieland.

George D. LaBar

George D. LaBar, president of the board of education, said it was a pleasure to be at a meeting of this kind. He had served eight years on the board with Rev. Carlson. He had been an active and a loyal member, and was a valuable man as officer or on committees. His departure was a loss for Brainerd, but a gain to the city he would make his future home.

G. S. Swanson

G. S. Swanson spoke in behalf of the congregation of Clara Lutheran church. He considered that Rev. Carlson and the whole congregation had been honored by the words heard this evening. As a church worker Rev. Carlson could not be excelled. As soon as he came on the ground he had seen the need of a new church and had started the building campaign. He combined the rare facility of successfully managing things both spiritually and financially.

Rev. Arthur C. Smith

Rev. Arthur C. Smith, pastor of the First Baptist church, spoke as a representative of the Ministerial Association. The sentiment of the association was that the organization regretted to see him leave. He was a man who believed in the doctrine of service.

A. C. Mraz

A. C. Mraz sang "Past and Future" by DeKoven and "At Nightfall." He was in excellent voice and the vibrant tones thrilled all. His accompanist was Mrs. Walter F. Wieland.

W. C. Cobb

W. C. Cobb, superintendent of schools, voiced his appreciation and in a humorous way told of fishing exploits of Rev. Carlson.

W. H. Gemmell

W. H. Gemmell, president of the Minnesota & International railway, spoke of Rev. Carlson's service on the nurse supervisory committee.

SAFE BLOWN AT NOON HOUR

The safe of the Skauge drug company, 712 Laurel street, in the heart of the business district, was blown at the noon hour. The door was smashed off its hinges. The safe is of ordinary size, standing about three feet high and two and a half feet wide.

Investigation at the Skauge drug company revealed the fact that the company safe had been broken open.

Mr. Skauge was very calm and not a bit excited.

"I expected to be out $25, but it may be less than that," said he.

How It Happened

"This morning," said Mr. Skauge, "the boys accidentally locked the old safe. I was in a quandary as I lost the combination 15 years ago. I hired Rosko Brothers to open it for me and Henry and a helper came down and opened it for me."

Remembered Dispatch

"When the old safe had been opened I said, 'Well, we ought to have the Dispatch make a story out of this.' And it was done.

"The reporter flew down to Skauge's intent on getting some news that had not even trickled through the backyard fences of the south side and he got it.

The only blue smoke in evidence was some from Skauge's cigar and he set up two more.

nized, and regret at losing him from his Brainerd field.

Judge Walter F. Wieland

Judge Walter F. Wieland also voiced the regret of the community at losing Rev. Carlson.

Dr. G. I. Badeaux

Dr. G. I. Badeaux sang two fine songs, one entitled "Morning" and the other a "Drinking Song." His accompanist was Mrs. Walter F. Wieland.

Mrs. Walter F. Wieland

Toastmaster Cohen asked the diners to rise and thus express their appreciation of the fine music accorded them by singers and the accompanist, Mrs. Walter F. Wieland.

H. P. Dunn

H. P. Dunn summed up in comprehensive language all the tributes paid and said Rev. Carlson had the full confidence of the community, that he went to his new field of labor with our best wishes and God speed.

Rev. Eloy G. Carlson

Rev. Carlson was then called on and he said, in view of the many congratulatory things said about him, it was hard for him to express himself. He said he had tried to do his duty wherever he was placed. He appreciated the honors paid him and the courtesy and true friendship shown him. He did not feel worthy of all the honors paid him. Brainerd would always be a place long to be remembered and held in fond recollection.

Reception

At the close of the speaking an informal reception was held.

"THE HEART OF MARYLAND"

To be Shown Under Auspices of Business and Professional Women's Club

One of the big pictures of the year is "The Heart of Maryland," to be shown under the auspices of the Business and Professional Women's Club Monday and Tuesday, November seventh and eighth, at the Lyceum theatre. This picture is to be shown in Duluth for a whole week following its appearance here. It is to be featured at the Lyceum theatre in Duluth Armistice week.

The following letter to W. R. Hillier, manager of the Lyceum theatre, was shown in Minneapolis and also in Mankato:

Oct. 14th, 1921

Mr. W. R. Hillier,
New Lyceum Theatre,
Brainerd, Minn.

Dear Mr. Hillier:
Answering your letter of the 13th, please be advised that we have the very picture for you to use in connection with the benefit show you have been asked to give for the Women's Business Club of Brainerd; that is, David Belasco's famous story based on the Civil War; namely, "The Heart of Maryland."

This is a wonderful seven reel picture—a special in every sense of the word, and wherever shown has gone over big. It was put on in Minneapolis at the Blue Mouse theatre under the auspices of the Veterans of Foreign Wars and on the last night of the week it was necessary to give an extra showing, and this is the only case on record that this has been done in the last few years in Minneapolis. Sandoz Brothers, of Mankato, showed this picture about ten days ago and there was an editorial in the Daily News coupling this picture up with "The Four Horsemen", which was played there at the same time, saying how good these two pictures were and how they drew extraordinary patronage.

Yours very truly,

AT GRAND OPERA

More Brainerd People Have Pleasure
of Attending Same in St. Paul

Paul

A number of Brainerd people attended Grand Opera in St. Paul this week. Among those not previously mentioned being Mrs. H. J. Jones, Mrs. E. H. Wolfert, Mrs. Carl Zapf and Miss Maybelle Grewcox.

Wednesday evening Il Barbiere di Siviglia (The Barber of Seville) was given, and on Thursday evening that old favorite, La Boheme. In the opinion of many, this opera was the finest of all. Joseph's Hislop's singing in the part of Rodolfo was superb. As the poet, Rudolph, he sang and acted in a way which will be forever memorable in the minds of those having had the privilege of hearing him.

Friday night a novelty was given in the opera, L'Oracolo, a music drama in one act. It told the story of life in the Chinese quarters of San Francisco before the fire, and contained a character created by Antonio Scotti and never played by any one but him. This is said to be Scotti's best role, and he sang it better than ever before. He feels at home in St. Paul, and can sing better in a friendly atmosphere.

This is true of most artists, and audiences should bear in mind that if a singer is greeted in a warm, friendly manner, he or she can do much better work. Brainerd is to have the privilege of hearing a Grand Opera singer on Sunday afternoon, when Lillian Eubank, mezzo-soprano, will sing at the Park Opera house. The program will consist of selections from Gounod, Puccini, Faure and other noted composers, and those who were unable to attend Grand Opera will have the opportunity of hearing a Grand Opera star sing a number of the most famous arias, notably Vissi d'arte Vissi d'amore, from "La Tosca," and Plus grand dans son obscurite, from "The Queen of Sheba."

How It Happened

"This morning," said Mr. Skauge, "the boys accidentally locked the old safe. I was in a quandary as I lost the combination 15 years ago. I hired Rosko Brothers to open it for me and Henry and a helper came down and opened it for me."

Remembered Dispatch

"When the old safe had been opened I said, 'Well, we ought to have the Dispatch make a story out of this.' And it was done.

"The reporter flew down to Skauge's intent on getting some news that had not even trickled through the backyard fences of the south side and he got it.

The only blue smoke in evidence was some from Skauge's cigar and he set up two more.

ized, and regret at losing him from his Brainerd field.

Judge Walter F. Wieland

Judge Walter F. Wieland also voiced the regret of the community at losing Rev. Carlson.

Dr. G. I. Badeaux

Dr. G. I. Badeaux sang two fine songs, one entitled "Morning" and the other a "Drinking Song." His accompanist was Mrs. Walter F. Wieland.

Mrs. Walter F. Wieland

Toastmaster Cohen asked the diners to raise and thus express their appreciation of the fine music accorded them by singers and the accompanist, Mrs. Walter F. Wieland.

H. P. Dunn

H. P. Dunn summed up in comprehensive language all the tributes paid and said Rev. Carlson had the full confidence of the community, that he went to his new field of labor with our best wishes and God speed.

Rev. Eloy G. Carlson

Rev. Carlson was then called on and he said, in view of the many congratulatory things said about him, it was hard for him to express himself. He said he had tried to do his duty wherever he was placed. He appreciated the honors paid him and the courtesy and true friendship shown him. He did not feel worthy of all the honors paid him. Brainerd would always be a place long to be remembered and held in fond recollection.

Reception

At the close of the speaking an informal reception was held.

"THE HEART OF MARYLAND"

To be Shown Under Auspices of Business and Professional Women's Club

One of the big pictures of the year is "The Heart of Maryland," to be shown under the auspices of the Business and Professional Women's Club Monday and Tuesday, November seventh and eighth, at the Lyceum theatre. This picture is to be shown in Duluth for a whole week following its appearance here. It is to be featured at the Lyceum theatre in Duluth Armistice week.

The following letter to W. R. Hiller, manager of the Lyceum theatre, is the popularity of the picture when shown in Minneapolis and also in Mankato:

Oct. 14th, 1921

Mr. W. R. Hiller,

New Lyceum Theatre,

Brainerd, Minn.

Dear Mr. Hiller:

Answering your letter of the 13th, please be advised that we have the very picture for you to use in connection with the benefit show you have been asked to give for the Women's Business Club of Brainerd; that is, David Belasco's famous story based on the Civil War, namely, "The Heart of Maryland."

This is a wonderful seven reel picture—a special in every sense of the word, and wherever shown has gone over big. It was put on in Minneapolis at the Blue Mouse theatre under the auspices of the Veterans of Foreign Wars and on the last night of the week it was necessary to give an extra showing, and this is the only case on record that this has been done in the last few years in Minneapolis.

Sandon Brothers, of Mankato, showed this picture about ten days ago and there was an editorial in the Daily News coupling this picture up with "The Four Horsemen", which was played there at the same time, saying how good these two pictures were and how they drew extraordinary patronage.

Yours very truly,

AT GRAND OPERA

More Brainerd People Have Pleasure
of Attending Same in St.
Paul

A number of Brainerd people attended Grand Opera in St. Paul this week. Among those not previously mentioned being Mrs. H. J. Jones, Mrs. E. H. Wolfert, Mrs. Carl Zapf and Miss Maybelle Grewcox.

Wednesday evening Il Barbiere di Siviglia (The Barber of Seville) was given, and on Thursday evening that old favorite, La Boheme. In the opinion of many, this opera was the finest of all. Joseph's Hislop's singing in the part of Rodolfo was superb. As the poet, Rudolph, he sang and acted in a way which will be forever memorable in the minds of those having had the privilege of hearing him.

Friday night a novelty was given in the opera, L'Oracolo, a music drama in one act. It told the story of life in the Chinese quarters of San Francisco before the fire, and contained a character created by Antonio Scotti and never played by any one but him. This is said to be Scotti's best role, and he sang it better than ever before. He feels at home in St. Paul, and can sing better in a friendly atmosphere.

This is true of most artists, and audiences should bear in mind that if a singer is greeted in a warm, friendly manner, he or she can do much better work. Brainerd is to have the privilege of hearing a Grand Opera singer on Sunday afternoon, when Lillian Eubank, mezzo-soprano, will sing at the Park Opera house. The program will consist of selections from Gounod, Puccini, Faure and other noted composers, and those who were unable to attend Grand Opera will have the opportunity of hearing a Grand Opera star sing a number of the most famous arias, notably Vissi d'arte Vissi d'amore, from "La Tosca," and Plus grand dans son obscurité, from "The Queen of Sheba."

that have made pictures of the Civil War horrid to an extreme by long drawn out battle scenes, galloping horses and pursuing troops, and long shots of historic personages. Vittagraph's version of the famed Belasco stage play, "The Heart of Maryland" employs only those elements making the artistic, permanent-interesting screen feature. Romance and history have been deftly woven with the result that the completed pictorial canvas stands as one of the superior achievements of current picture history. It is a picture that carries as much entertainment value and interest upon a second viewing as with the first—criterion enough of its worth.

The club is to be congratulated on being able to secure so exceptional a picture, and no doubt the friendly interest shown the club by the community will be sufficient to pack the theatre at every performance.

There are many places where one comes in handy—the kitchen in early morning, seldom used parlors, bath-rooms, bed-rooms, etc.

You will find an Oil-Heater one of the handiest things you ever had around your home. A child can carry it from room to room with safety.

It quickly takes the chill off a room. When warm enough turn it out. You waste no fuel.

SOVIET CONTROL IN RUSSIA IS NOW ABSOLUTE

By JOHN GRAUDENZ,
(United Press Staff Correspondent.)

Moscow. (By Mail.)—The Soviet government is today probably the most absolute government in the world.

With complete control of an reorganized administrative apparatus it is supported by over six hundred thousand loyal communist members of the Communist party, all of whom are holding posts within the state machinery. It controls the entire transportation system—however poor it may be. It controls the wireless, telegraph and post apparatus. It is backed by a strong, well disciplined, absolutely loyal and fatalistic army. It has no organized opposition. It controls the entire press.

There is no factor offering the slightest possibility of overthrowing the Soviet regime from within Russia. There has been and still is a certain amount of opposition from the workmen headed by the trade unions against the so-called New Economic Policy, but the government is confident to be able to beat that opposition through measures, now under way, which will enable the working classes to buy the minimum existence articles at the free trade markets. The government expects that the workmen will yield to what Lenin considers an unavoidable measure and offers no resistance of the new course.

Hopes that a possibility to overthrow the Bolsheviks might come through hunger revolts would prove more fatal to the rest of the world than the Soviet System itself. Providing the hungry peasants would have enough pluck left to rise and march towards the more prosperous regions, the Soviet authorities are determined to direct the hordes towards the west, with the help of the army. The army need not fire a single shot if the government simply puts up food stations towards Poland. But it is a fact that the Russian peasant, being completely disarmed, is not capable of a real riot.

The question therefore arises; shall the world continue to wait for the unexpected or enter Russia with capital and reconstruct Russia? Everyone knows Russia is unable to reconstruct herself without outside help. On the other hand, Russia knows the world needs Russia as a consumer. At present, Russia is unable to buy all materials she wants to import in cash. She needs credits.

Assuming what has been said above about the existence of the Soviet government—whether its existence is based on democratic right or not, does not alter the fact—the only question which interests American capital remains: what guarantees and prospects have concessionaires in Russia today?

With a few exceptions, Russia is prepared to grant any concession in any unexploited and even already exploited district. While it refuses to acknowledge the right of private property and consequently won't return factories, mills works, etc., to former owners, including Americans, it is willing to give the works back to the former owners in a way of concession. The concessionaires are permitted to export their outputs, outside a certain quantity which the government needs for itself and either will accept as payment for the concession or pay at the world market prices. With regard to the concessions of gold, platinum and silver mines, Russia will reserve herself the rights of priority to purchase the gold and silver as a matter of precaution to prevent that Russia some day might be excluded from the gold market entirely.

Lenin says: "Let the world make money in Russia, as much as it wants. We won't bother it. All we want is to secure for our population the hygienic ration. This will be improved gradually through the electrification and other measures which will be carried out as quick as possible. In the end, the Russian population will benefit of the exploitation of Russia through the foreign capital, anyhow."

The question asked repeatedly: What guarantees have concessionaires that the Soviet government some day won't confiscate our capital? Is answered by Soviet officials with the statement that the Soviets have lived up to their promises.

Also, once foreign capital enters Russia and starts to reconstruct Russia transportation system, its factories, mines, etc., Russia will be unable to cut the ties without seriously injuring herself.

MONEY AND MARKETS

Business Situation

The last thirty days have been characterized by slowly improving sentiment and by some expansion of production. The most marked gains have naturally been in those lines where recovery has been the longest delayed. Bituminous coal production is increasing, and while partially seasonal, this to some extent is due to enlarged operations in the iron and steel industry, which is now running at about 40 per cent of capacity. There has been less change in the rate of production of other leading industries, but gains made since midsummer have so far held. Activity in the building trades is well maintained.

Autumn buying is reflected in an improved retail dry-goods trade. It is noteworthy that this betterment is more marked in rural districts than in industrial centers. This is clearly the result of the marketing of cotton and grain crops at fairly satisfactory prices, and affords grounds for confidence that the extreme depression in the agricultural industry of the United States has definitely passed.

Wholesale prices of a number of raw materials have advanced since September 15, while the markets in several lines have been somewhat more active. Caution on the part of the wholesale trade has served to keep the volume of manufacturers' advance orders small, but frequent repetition of orders for immediate delivery has thus far served to render the present basis of operations fairly stable. There is no doubt that the improvement which has thus far taken place is more or less seasonal in character, but it is nevertheless true that the progress made toward normal business is sound. Such temporary setback as may occur after the autumn buying should, therefore, bring no discouragement. Viewing conditions as a whole, the facts justify conservative optimism as to the future.

Foreign Versus Domestic Markets

Exports of wheat, cotton, copper and other raw materials have placed the United States in a dominant position in the world commodity markets. Natural resources and modern methods of production have enabled the United States to produce more commodities of those classes than the domestic market could consume, at prices enabling the American producer to meet competitors in the international markets.

The United States is not sufficiently dependent on foreign markets to justify the belief that business recovery in this country must await recovery abroad. At prices determined in the international markets American raw materials for export will find an outlet. By far the greater part of the entire manufactured product of the country has always been sold at home and as price adjustments are contemplated, the domestic market will again absorb the major portion of our production.

It is true that the buying power of the domestic consumer has been much curtailed. High taxes have cut heavily into the sums which might have been sent for clothing, furniture and all those articles which have made the life of the average American family so rich in comforts and luxuries. Declines in the prices of agricultural products and widespread unemployment have reduced the buying ability of a large part of the population, and high rents, high fuel costs and high transportation charges have operated in the same direction. Many of these items represent temporary maladjustment, and their effects will gradually lessen and tend to disappear.

Another factor of great significance which cannot be overlooked is the growing spirit of thrift. In the United States, as elsewhere, much extravagance undoubtedly resulted from the period of high wages and high profits. It is nevertheless true that large sections of the public took advantage of the opportunity to establish savings accounts and to begin the purchase of homes, while the wide distribution of Liberty bonds familiarized many with investments in securities. Except in a few areas the widespread and severe unemployment has not materially reduced savings bank deposits, while in some localities steady gains in such deposits have been made throughout the period of depression. Sharp curtailment of income has impressed the necessity of saving on many who failed to take advantage of temporary higher incomes. Economy has become fashionable. The time has passed when any considerable section of the public will buy regardless of cost. Sales policies based on a belief that buying can be stimulated by artificial methods and that another era of extravagant buying can be induced under present conditions will not succeed.

The American consumer, however, has suffered no material permanent curtailment of purchasing power. Goods of all kinds, in large volume, can be sold in every part of the United States today, if they are staple in character, and if prices are such as to represent real values to conservative purchasers. As the volume of goods thus sold expands, employment will automatically increase and, in turn, new purchasing power will develop. The domestic market assures the American producer of an outlet.

300,000 RUBLES FOR HER SLIPPERS

By JOHN GRAUDENZ,
(United Press Staff Correspondent.)

Moscow. (By Mail.)—The Well-dressed woman in Russia today could be outfitted for from 4,000,000 to 8,000,000 rubles, and a man would spend about 1,500,000 rubles.

This, in American money, would mean between $1,000 and $2,000 for a woman's clothing, and $350 for a man's.

Some of the articles a woman would buy, and their prices, would be:

Slippers, 300,000 rubles; shoes, 500,000; dress, 1,000,000; tailored suit, 1,500,000 to 2,000,000; cotton stockings 25,000, and silk stockings, 50,000.

A man would pay at least 1,300,000 rubles for a suit of the poorest cloth; 100,000 for a shirt, and 28,000 to 30,000 for a tie.

It is characteristic of present-day Russia that while essential articles are offered at exorbitant prices, comparative luxuries are really cheap. About a dozen shops reopen for business in Moscow daily, displaying every article from a needle to French perfume. One shop, the windows of which are elaborately decorated, even boasted an American safety razor, priced at 140,000 rubles.

As regards food, prices are regulated largely by supply and demand, as in other countries, and because of the shortage of many articles, prices are unusually high. In fact, many people cannot afford to pay them.

Fruit is about the only thing that is fairly plentiful. Ham, being very scarce, brings 18,000 rubles a Russian pound—about nine-tenths of an American pound—for the fresh variety, and 28,000 to 30,000 for smoked. Lamb chops are about the cheapest of all meats, selling for 9,000.

A chicken, weighing three fund, or a duck, weighing four fund, brings 35,000 rubles. Butter sells at 26,000 to 28,000; cheese, 25,000; milk, 3,000 a krushka—a little less than a pint; eggs, 12,000 for ten.

Fish is one of the most important of Russian foods. Herring brings from 1,500 to 7,000 rubles apiece, and salmon, 20,000.

The concessionaires are permitted to export their outputs, outside a certain quantity which the government needs for itself and either will accept as payment for the concession or pay at the world market prices. With regard to the concessions of gold, platinum and silver mines, Russia will reserve herself the rights of priority to purchase the gold and silver as a matter of precaution to prevent that Russia some day might be excluded from the gold market entirely.

Lenin says: "Let the world make money in Russia, as much as it wants. We won't bother it. All we want is to secure for our population the hygienic ration. This will be improved gradually through the electrification and other measures which will be carried out as quick as possible. In the end, the Russian population will benefit of the exploitation of Russia through the foreign capital, anyhow."

The question asked repeatedly: What guarantees have concessionaires that the Soviet government some day won't confiscate our capital? is answered by Soviet officials with the statement that the Soviets have lived up to their promises.

Also; once foreign capital enters Russia and starts to reconstruct Russia transportation system, its factories, mines, etc., Russia will be unable to cut the ties without seriously injuring herself.

MONEY AND MARKETS

Business Situation

The last thirty days have been characterized by slowly improving sentiment and by some expansion of production. The most marked gains have naturally been in those lines where recovery has been the longest delayed. Bituminous coal production is increasing, and while partially seasonal, this to some extent is due to enlarged operations in the iron and steel industry, which is now running at about 40 per cent of capacity. There has been less change in the rate of production of other leading industries, but gains made since midsummer have so far held. Activity in the building trades is well maintained.

Autumn buying is reflected in an improved retail dry-goods trade. It is noteworthy that this betterment is more marked in rural districts than in industrial centers. This is clearly the result of the marketing of cotton and grain crops at fairly satisfactory prices, and affords grounds for confidence that the extreme depression in the agricultural industry of the United States has definitely passed.

Wholesale prices of a number of raw materials have advanced since September 15, while the markets in several lines have been somewhat more active. Caution on the part of the wholesale trade has served to keep the volume of manufacturers' advance orders small, but frequent repetition of orders for immediate delivery has thus far served to render the present basis of operations fairly stable. There is no doubt that the improvement which has thus far taken place is more or less seasonal in character, but it is nevertheless true that the progress made toward normal business is sound. Such temporary setback as may occur after the autumn buying should, therefore, bring no discouragement. Viewing conditions as a whole, the facts justify conservative optimism as to the future.

Foreign Versus Domestic Markets

Exports of wheat, cotton, copper and other raw materials have placed the United States in a dominant position in the world commodity markets. Natural resources and modern methods of production have enabled the United States to produce more commodities of those classes than the domestic market could consume, at prices enabling the American producer to meet competitors in the international markets.

The United States is not sufficiently dependent on foreign markets to justify the belief that business recovery in this country must await recovery abroad. At prices determined in the international markets American raw materials for export will find an outlet. By far the greater part of the entire manufactured product of the country has always been sold at home and as price adjustments are contemplated, the domestic market will again absorb the major portion of our production.

It is true that the buying power of the domestic consumer has been much curtailed. High taxes have cut heavily into the sums which might have been sent for clothing, furniture and all those articles which have made the life of the average American family so rich in comforts and luxuries. Declines in the prices of agricultural products and widespread unemployment have reduced the buying ability of a large part of the population, and high rents, high fuel costs and high transportation charges have operated in the same direction. Many of these items represent temporary maladjustment, and their effects will gradually lessen and tend to disappear.

Another factor of great significance which cannot be overlooked is the growing spirit of thrift. In the United States, as elsewhere, much extravagance undoubtedly resulted from the period of high wages and high profits. It is nevertheless true that large sections of the public took advantage of the opportunity to establish savings accounts and to begin the purchase of homes, while the wide distribution of Liberty bonds familiarized many with investments in securities. Except in a few areas the widespread and severe unemployment has not materially reduced savings bank deposits, while in some localities steady gains in such deposits have been made throughout the period of depression. Sharp curtailment of income has impressed the necessity of saving on many who failed to take advantage of temporary higher incomes. Economy has become fashionable. The time has passed when any considerable section of the public will buy regardless of cost. Sales policies based on a belief that buying can be stimulated by artificial methods and that another era of extravagant buying can be induced under present conditions will not succeed.

The American consumer, however, has suffered no material permanent curtailment of purchasing power. Goods of all kinds, in large volume, can be sold in every part of the United States today, if they are staple in character, and if prices are such as to represent real values to conservative purchasers. As the volume of goods thus sold expands, employment will automatically increase and, in turn, new purchasing power will develop. The domestic market assures the American producer of an outlet.

300,000 RUBLES FOR HER SLIPPERS

By JOHN GRAUDENZ,
(United Press Staff Correspondent.)
Moscow. (By Mail.)—The Well-dressed woman in Russia today could be outfitted for from 4,000,000 to 8,000,000 rubles, and a man would spend about 1,500,000 rubles.

This, in American money, would mean between $1,000 and $2,000 for a woman's clothing, and $350 for a man's.

Some of the articles a woman would buy, and their prices, would be: Slippers, 300,000 rubles; shoes, 500,000; dress, 1,000,000; tailored suit, 1,500,000 to 2,000,000; cotton stockings 25,000, and silk stockings, 50,000.

A man would pay at least 1,300,000 rubles for a suit of the poorest cloth; 100,000 for a shirt, and 28,000 to 30,000 for a tie.

It is characteristic of present-day Russia that while essential articles are offered at exorbitant prices, comparative luxuries are really cheap. About a dozen shops reopen for business in Moscow daily, displaying every article from a needle to French perfume. One shop, the windows of which are elaborately decorated, even boasted an American safety razor, priced at 140,000 rubles.

As regards food, prices are regulated largely by supply and demand, as in other countries, and because of the shortage of many articles, prices are unusually high. In fact, many people cannot afford to pay them.

Fruit is about the only thing that is fairly plentiful. Ham, being very scarce, brings 18,000 rubles a Russian pound—about nine-tenths of an American pound—for the fresh variety, and 28,000 to 30,000 for smoked. Lamb chops are about the cheapest of all meats, selling for 9,000.

A chicken, weighing three fund, or a duck, weighing four fund, brings 35,000 rubles. Butter sells at 26,000 to 28,000; cheese, 25,000; milk, 3,000 a krushka—a little less than a pint; eggs, 12,000 for ten.

Fish is one of the most important of Russian foods. Herring brings from 1,500 to 7,000 rubles apiece, and salmon, 20,000.

Think Eelskin Cures Rheumatism.
It is a singular commentary on the many faiths and creeds and notions prevailing amid the uneducated of New York—and many of the educated, for that matter!—that a certain fish product should be on daily sale as a supposed cure for rheumatism. This is the eelskin. It is sold in various sizes. The skin is tied around arm or elbow or wrist or ankle or thigh or elsewhere near the affected part. And there are those who swear by its effectiveness. —Scientific American.
